

The past five to six months the atmosphere has been practically unuseable. If BPL would be added to the extremely noisy conditions that exist now, the amateur hobby and all other communications associated with it, would cease to exist.